-----Reaching an agreement with Australian commercial bank ANZ to provide financial payments to approximately 1100 Cambodian farming families who were forced from their land and homes by one of the bank's former clients to make way for a sugar plantation and refinery. The agreement created a human rights precedent for the global banking sector, placing pressure on banks world-wide to strengthen their due diligence and solidifying the norm that when financial institutions contribute to harm they have a responsibility to contribute to remedy. We worked throughout the year with our local partners to implement an equitable process to distribute the settlement to the affected families.
